Director's Report Josias Bartram July 11, 2024

Staffing/Personnel

This has been a challenging month. We've already been concerned about staff burnout in the post-COVID era, and operating without key positions filled doesn't help. Inevitably, all of us have been doing extra work. With your support, we have taken some steps to mitigate this, but they come with their own tradeoffs.

- We have tried hard to continue to encourage and model a culture of scaling things back when necessary and working within our capacity rather than working more. This has been only partially successful (both with the modeling and the encouraging), but I do think that it remains important as a cultural value. I don't want to lose more of our excellent staff by ramping up the stress to even more unsustainable levels.
- One of our key staff members is back from medical leave, which will make a big difference.
- We've proceeded with shortening our hours on Tuesdays and Wednesdays as approved at the last board meeting. This has made a big difference and I honestly don't know how we could function without it, but it does come with the extra emotional burden of disappointing/letting down our patrons.
- As also approved at our last meeting, Tammy Cummings started as a temp Librarian in Youth Services this week. She is working 30 hours per week for the summer (she's a school librarian) and will make a huge difference with both programs and desk coverage. We have some longer-term plans for this temp position once she leaves to go back to BCSD. Stay tuned ©
- With your approval today, Jeremy Liss will be starting in the PT Library Clerk for Local History on July 22nd. We are very close to filling the other PT Library Clerk position.
- We have interviewed or are in the process of scheduling interviews with some promising Librarian I candidates. I'm feeling optimistic about filling this position.
- Librarian III has been more difficult. I plan on making another push to publicize this once I'm through the budget/board meeting crunch.
- Although not directly related, the new break room is making a big difference as far as preserving staff morale goes.

Budget & Financials

The 2024 financials are on track. There are some areas that I want to touch on, which I've highlighted in yellow on the report. The budget (both 2024 and 2025) is going to be our main informational topic at tonight's meeting.

The 2025 Budget proposal is still a little murky due to some glitches/growing pains with the implementation of the new system that I mentioned last month. The attached is quite close to what our final proposal to the Executive will look like. I will bring it back once we make it through that hurdle, so you will have another chance to review the proposal that actually goes to the Legislature.

- We are asking for the largest increase of my tenure. This is partially out of need and partially out of strategy. I will cover this in more detail at the meeting.
- Our Budget Meeting with OMB and the Executive's Office is on July 23rd at 1pm. Kate, Sherry and I all plan to attend. Given how the BC Budget process works, this is when we'll have a pretty good idea of what 2025 will look like. I will cover this in more detail tonight.

Rumors and Insinuations

I'm a bit concerned about some of the inaccurate rumors and insinuations about the Library that have been spreading among housing advocates. A lot of this has been among advocacy groups on social media, and one group in particular. This worries me less. More concerning has been the repeated mention of the need to ensure that no one is banned from libraries within the City of Binghamton in City Council's discussions of their new homelessness legislation. This has been the only specific example used in these discussions and it's come up with some regularity and made it into the news. We haven't been specifically named, but there is of course only one library within the City of Binghamton.

- This is particularly galling to me because it often feels like we are one of the only organizations in downtown Binghamton that is actually doing the work of providing shelter and services for the homeless. It's important work, but as you all know from our discussions, it's difficult and it wears on our staff. As these discussions were taking place in City Council, our custodial staff has been cleaning up human feces from our back sidewalk on a daily basis. Nick and Dustin (from Broome County Security) then had to watch hours of security footage to find some of the culprits in action, and I had to have a very awkward conversation with a regular patron. We are so careful to protect the rights of all of our patrons regardless of their housing status, but our staff faces a seemingly endless torrent of harassment and abuse, and the only way to protect them is to ban folks when it's warranted. If you can't tell, this one really gets to me. I deeply resent the implications.
- I attended City Council last night, handed out copies of our Annual Report (which thank all of the council members by name), information on our peer support, and my business card. I didn't focus on the discussion around banning, although I did mention briefly that we have an established process and that no one is being discriminated against based on their housing status. Despite the emotion in the previous paragraph, I was my usual friendly and collaborative self. I invited all of them to come for a tour to see all of the good that we are doing and to address any concerns about banning.

8 Pine Street

We will be discussing this in more detail at the meting, but the abandoned house at 8 Pine Street is becoming a big issue for us. Sarah Glose has been helping through the City and the County has been as well, but our options are somewhat limited.

Facilities

- Our new air handlers are here and ready to go in. This is a really big project and will require closing the Library for a full week in order to bring in a crane. It currently looks like it will happen the week of Indigenous People's Day. The Library is already closed for staff training on that Monday. If this timing holds, I plan to make the staff training a multi-day event and to hold it off site. Regardless of how we use it, this time will be a nice break for our staff but a difficult imposition on our regular patrons.
- The next step will be applying a sealant to our roof membrane, which will happen next year. It's rated for an additional 20 years.
- When I started as Director, these two projects were looming as unfunded necessities. The fact that the County is taking care of this for us really illustrates how much the relationship has improved.

Assistant Director's Report Sherry Kowalski

July 9, 2024

- The bulk of my time this month has been spent on filling the clerk and librarian positions. Progress is slow but we are moving in the right direction.
- I am still waiting for our Constant Contact account to be fully set up. I was hopeful that the July newsletter would be sent out with Constant Contact but maybe it will be set up for the August newsletter.
- I will attend the BAC meeting on July 11th for the review of the contract with ProQuest for Newspapers.com. The Broome County Legal department has contacted me to let me know that there may need to be quite a few changes before it is finalized. Our last contract we had with ProQuest required many changes as well.

Data Analytics Monthly Report (June 2024)

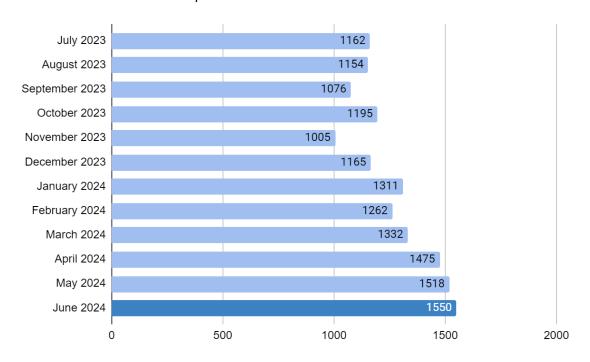

Submitted by Laura Haynes

Circulation:

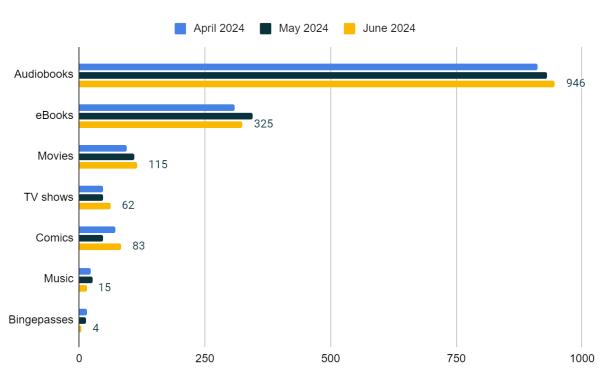

Physical item circulation reports for June will be included in the report for July.

Hoopla Circulation:

Hoopla circulation continues to climb.

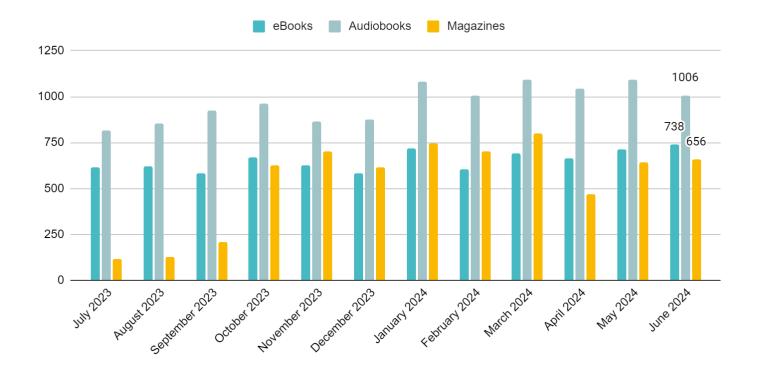

Hoopla Circulation by format:.

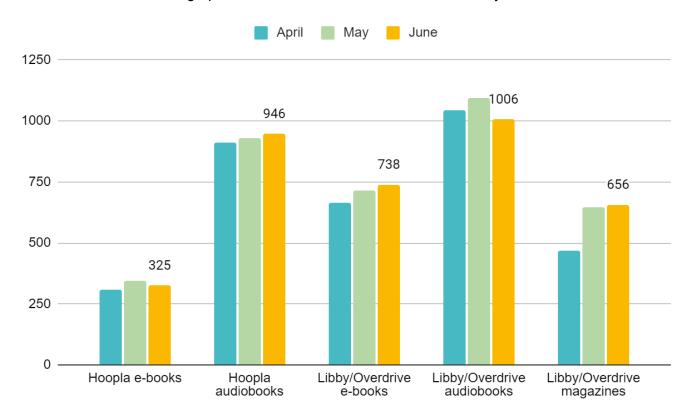

Libby Circulation for eBooks, Audiobooks, and Magazines over the last year:

eBook circulation and magazine circulation has increased. e-Audiobook usage declined.

Electronic media overview:

This graph shows electronic media circulation side by side.

Door Count

Door count will be included in the next month's report.

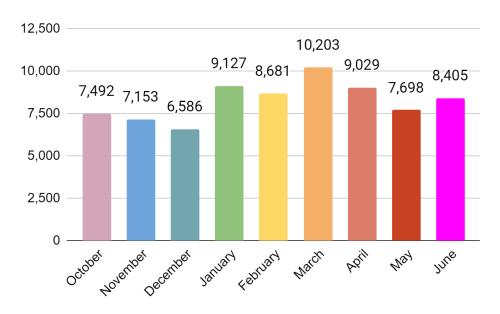

New Patron Registration (Hoopla, and Libby/Overdrive):

Registration will be shown in the next month's report.

Website Analytics:

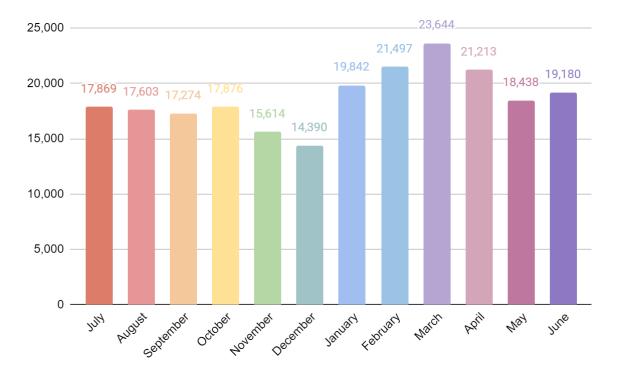

Total sessions:

Website sessions increased for June.

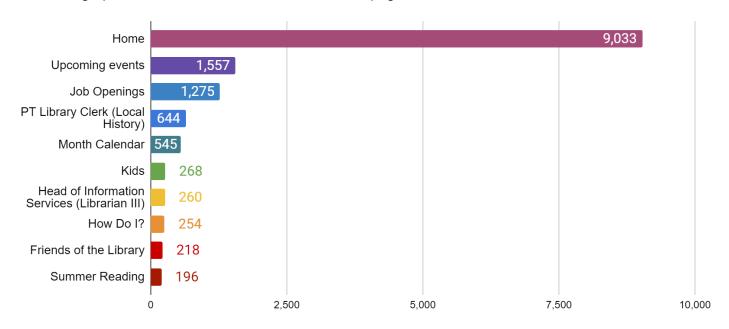

Pageviews:

This graph shows total pageviews for the past 12 months.

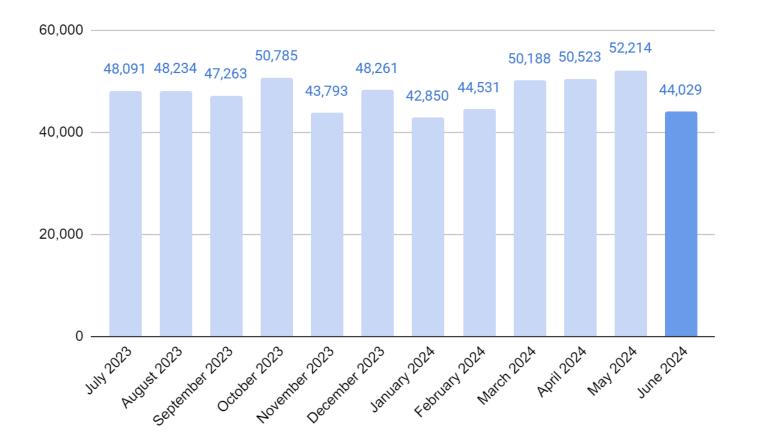

This graph shows a breakdown of views for each page on the website for the month of June.

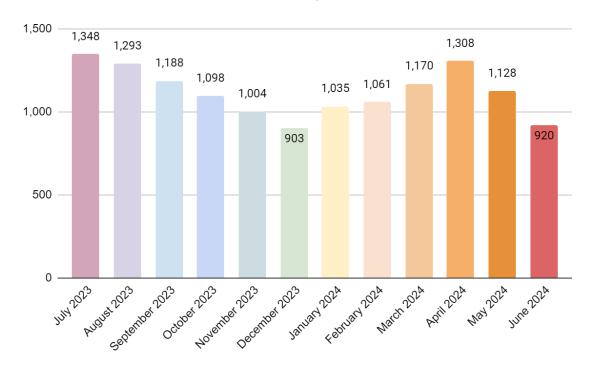

Number of Wireless Sessions:

Wireless sessions declined for June.

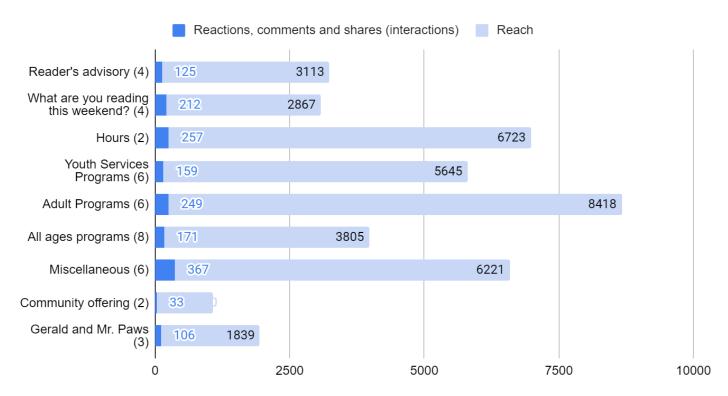

Public Computer Sessions

Public computer sessions declined. It may be due to the fact that many of our public computers are waiting to be fixed by IT.

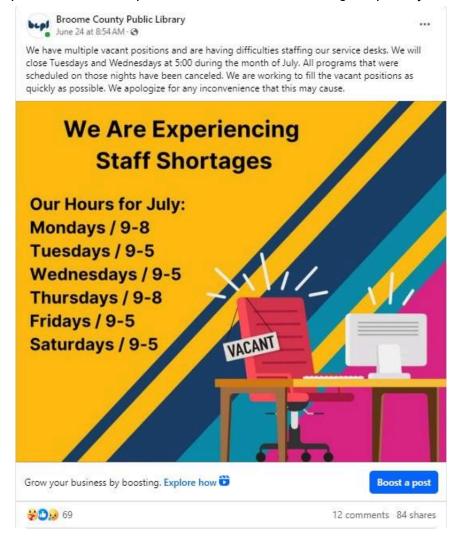

Social media:

This graph shows total interactions and reach for each category in June. The number of posts in each category is in parentheses. Miscellaneous included posts about Hoopla, the bookmobile, ending notary services, displays, our library fish, and the cutest pet contest. Community offerings included posts about a program at NoMa and a program at GFJ.

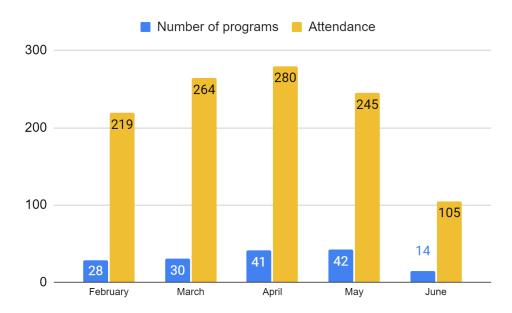

The most popular post in June was a post about our hours decreasing temporarily, with a reach of 6,038.

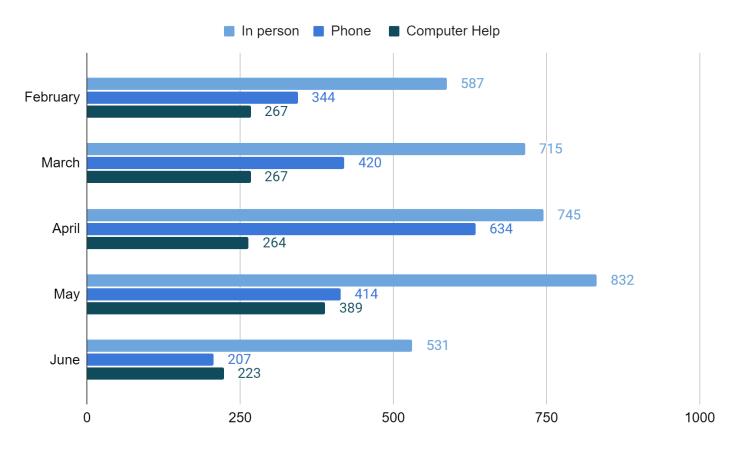

Program attendance:

Program attendance was proportionate to the amount of programs offered.

Reference statistics:

Reference statistics for the last week of June are not fully accurate- some of the statistic sheets went missing.

In the Loop analysis will be covered when a Librarian III resumes the duties of disseminating the newsletter.

June 2024 Youth Services Board Report

Notable things to report in Youth Services:
